

PARIS IN PALL OF DARKNESS AS SUN IS ECLIPSED

Spell of Night at Noon, but
French Capital Gets Fine
View of Sky Spectacle.

PARIS, April 17.—A cloudless day gave a fine opportunity to the many representatives of scientific and astronomical societies assembled in Paris from all parts of the world to study the eclipse of the sun, which occurred to-day. As the cone of the moon's shadow ran directly through Paris from the southwest after touching Europe at Portugal, there was an excellent chance for making good observations.

The eclipse began about 10.45, when hundreds of people carrying smoked glasses stood on the streets or visited the suburbs, especially St. Germain-en-Laye, where the eclipse was total. Shortly before noon a pall of obscurity resembling the approach of a thunder storm descended over the city and the atmosphere became greenish dark. In the city itself the eclipse was not quite total, the crescent of the sun showing at its climax at 12.10, after which the sun rapidly emerged.

During the spell of darkness the street lamps were lit and stores and cafes illuminated.

Many persons ascended in balloons to view the eclipse.

BROKER FELLED WITH BLACKJACK

Samuel Spiegel, an insurance broker, was putting the key in the outside door of his home at No. 16 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, early this morning, when he was struck on the head from behind with a blackjack. He fell down the steps, but in doing so caught the legs of his assailant, a negro. There was a struggle, but the negro broke away.

Spiegel's cries were heard by Patrolman Schiesinger, who chased the negro down Lenox avenue, through One Hundred and Fourteenth street, up Fifth avenue, where he vanished into the hallway of No. 1 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street.

Schiesinger entered the hallway, a revolver in his hand, but the weapon was knocked out of his hand. He grappled with the negro and subdued him. Then he picked up the blackjack and took his prisoner to Spiegel, who identified him as his assailant. At the East One Hundred and Fourth street station he said he was Frank Johnson, nineteen years old, of No. 9 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street.

Dr. De Sautelle, summoned from Harlem Hospital, said it was possible Spiegel's skull was fractured. The broker would not go to the hospital, however, and was taken home.

PRESS ROOM IN A BLAZE.

Fire in the press rooms of the Challenge Printing Company, on the top floor of No. 29 Beekman street, at 7.45 this morning, damaged presses and stock to the amount of $500. Stock on the floor below was damaged by water $200.

When the firemen turned a stream into the blaze it was so hot that telephones were melted to a mass, but wire glass skylights held and cut off any draught, preventing a serious fire. The building is six stories high.
